ABOUT US

TRAPA is a full service lumber and log company that is focused and committed to customer service and supplier relationships. TRAPA carries a wide range of wood products and can procure different species, grades, sizes and quality of softwood lumber.

Over the past decade TRAPA has focused its efforts on expanding its supply and global customer base. Production comes from Hampton Lumber's nine sawmills, our coastal custom cutting, our partner sawmills and remanufacturing plants in Canada, USA and Europe, and partner loggers. Today, TRAPA sells softwood lumber and logs to 20 different countries, with a constant focus on expansion.

OUR STORY

Founded in 1954, TRAPA initially exported logs to Japan and imported manufactured steel and fishing nets. By 1963, TRAPA expanded into producing custom cut products for the Japanese and European markets.

In 2012, TRAPA was acquired by Hampton Lumber, leveraging strengths from both entities to form a dynamic sales and marketing team. TRAPA is responsible for marketing all of Hampton's sawmill products offshore.

Today, TRAPA is the largest privately owned exporter of lumber and logs and a leading custom cutter in North America. It operates in partnership with 12 production sawmill facilities through exclusive offshore sales and marketing agreements, serving markets in over 20 different countries.

EXPORT LUMBER

Every year, TRAPA ships thousands of containers of lumber to over 50 destinations around the globe. TRAPA exports products from Hampton's sawmills as well as other sawmills through exclusive sales and marketing agreements. The scope and variety of products we can offer are unmatched by any other North American lumber shipper.
